Forecast for Thursday 03 Mar 2022

Weather: A few clear spells, especially in the north, but generally cloudy overnight with patchy rain and drizzle. The rain and drizzle becomes more widespread around dawn and then occasionally heavy through the morning. During the afternoon the rain edges away east but it remains rather cloudy. The rain continues to edge east through the evening with a few clearer spells developing in the west.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: Around 25% in north, otherwise little chance through daylight hours. Chances improve from the west through the evening.

Low cloud and visibility: Periods or persistent cloud above 450-600m, lowering to 300m at times, but cloud more occasional at times above 600m in north and then gradually from the west in evening. Otherwise visibility rather hazy, but good at times in north, falling to several kilometres in rain and drizzle.

Forecast for Friday 04 Mar 2022

Weather: Dry overnight with some clear spells developing. Then a bright start with some sunny spells but increasing cloud brings occasional afternoon showers. The showers, perhaps turning wintry over the higher summits, gradually die out through the evening with more in the way of clear spells developing.

Maximum wind: Northwesterly around 10mph

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 600m: Close to 100% at first but becoming around 40% by afternoon.

Low cloud and visibility: Little cloud expected below the summits at dawn but cloud increasing through the morning to become occasional or periods above 450-600m for the afternoon. Otherwise visibility good or very good, falling to a kilometre or two in summit sleet or snow showers.

Temperature: Valleys: Plus 3 or 4 Celsius at dawn rising to 9 or 10 Celsius by early afternoon.
At 600m: Around plus 2 or 3 Celsius.
Freezing level: Around 900m
